Introduction:

Pour les deux instruments: attention au passage en triolets de noires et aux changements de mesure (une mesure en 3 / 4 pendant l'intro et une en 7 / 8 pendant le solo) !

La ligne de basse est assez répétitive mais elle est très rapide, les principales difficultés sont les accents, les contretemps, les notes courtes (notes avec un point indiqué au dessus), les pull-offs et les syncopes.

Pour la partition il y a un dièse à la clef: le Fa#.

Comme souvent chez Metallica la partie de batterie est d'un niveau très compliqué vu le tempo du morceau, les plus grosses difficultés sont les accents, les contretemps en doubles-croches à la grosse caisse, les flas, des breaks en doubles-croches et en sextolets et les syncopes sur la cymbale crash, pensez à muter la cymbale crash (notes avec un point indiqué au dessus). Notez que Lars Ulrich se sert de quatre toms pour les breaks mais je me suis limité à trois pour écrire la partition. J'ai écrit la partition avec deux grosses caisses mais ce morceau doit être jouable avec une seule pour les batteurs les plus expérimentés.
